

3.4 JANE HARVEY'S STORY

See resource 3.4 B Film: Jane Harvey.

HWEDHEL JENNA HARVI	JANE HARVEY'S STORY
Jenna Harvi o arlodhes Ostel Karow Gwynn yn Heyl.	Jane Harvey was landlady of the White Hart Hotel in Hayle.
Omma, y hwrug hi ostya visityans prennoryon Deudhva a vri - bos sur myns meur rag kesteudha, kastya ha kenwerth o oll kevys yn salow.	Here she hosted the visits of important Foundry customers - making sure that massive deals for smelting, casting and trade were all safely clinched.
Hi a oberas yndella rag unnek bledhen ha maga teylu bras fleghes ha'y wort, Hykka Trevudhek, ow mos dhe Amerika Dyghow.	She held the fort for eleven years and raised a huge brood of children whilst her husband, Richard Trevithick, popped over to South America.
Ena, gans y dhehwelyans digwaytys, Jenna a'n skoodhyas dre lies bledhen moy a dhismygans hanowedhyans.	Then on his unexpected return, Jane supported him through many more years of invention and innovation.
Jenna a vewas bys dhe hwetek ha peswar-ugens ha peshya penn-teylu dhe les rag an meurra teudhva y'n bys: Harvis a Heyl.	Jane lived to 96 and remained an important family figurehead for the foremost foundry in the world: Harveys of Hayle.